

Team animal: octopus/squid

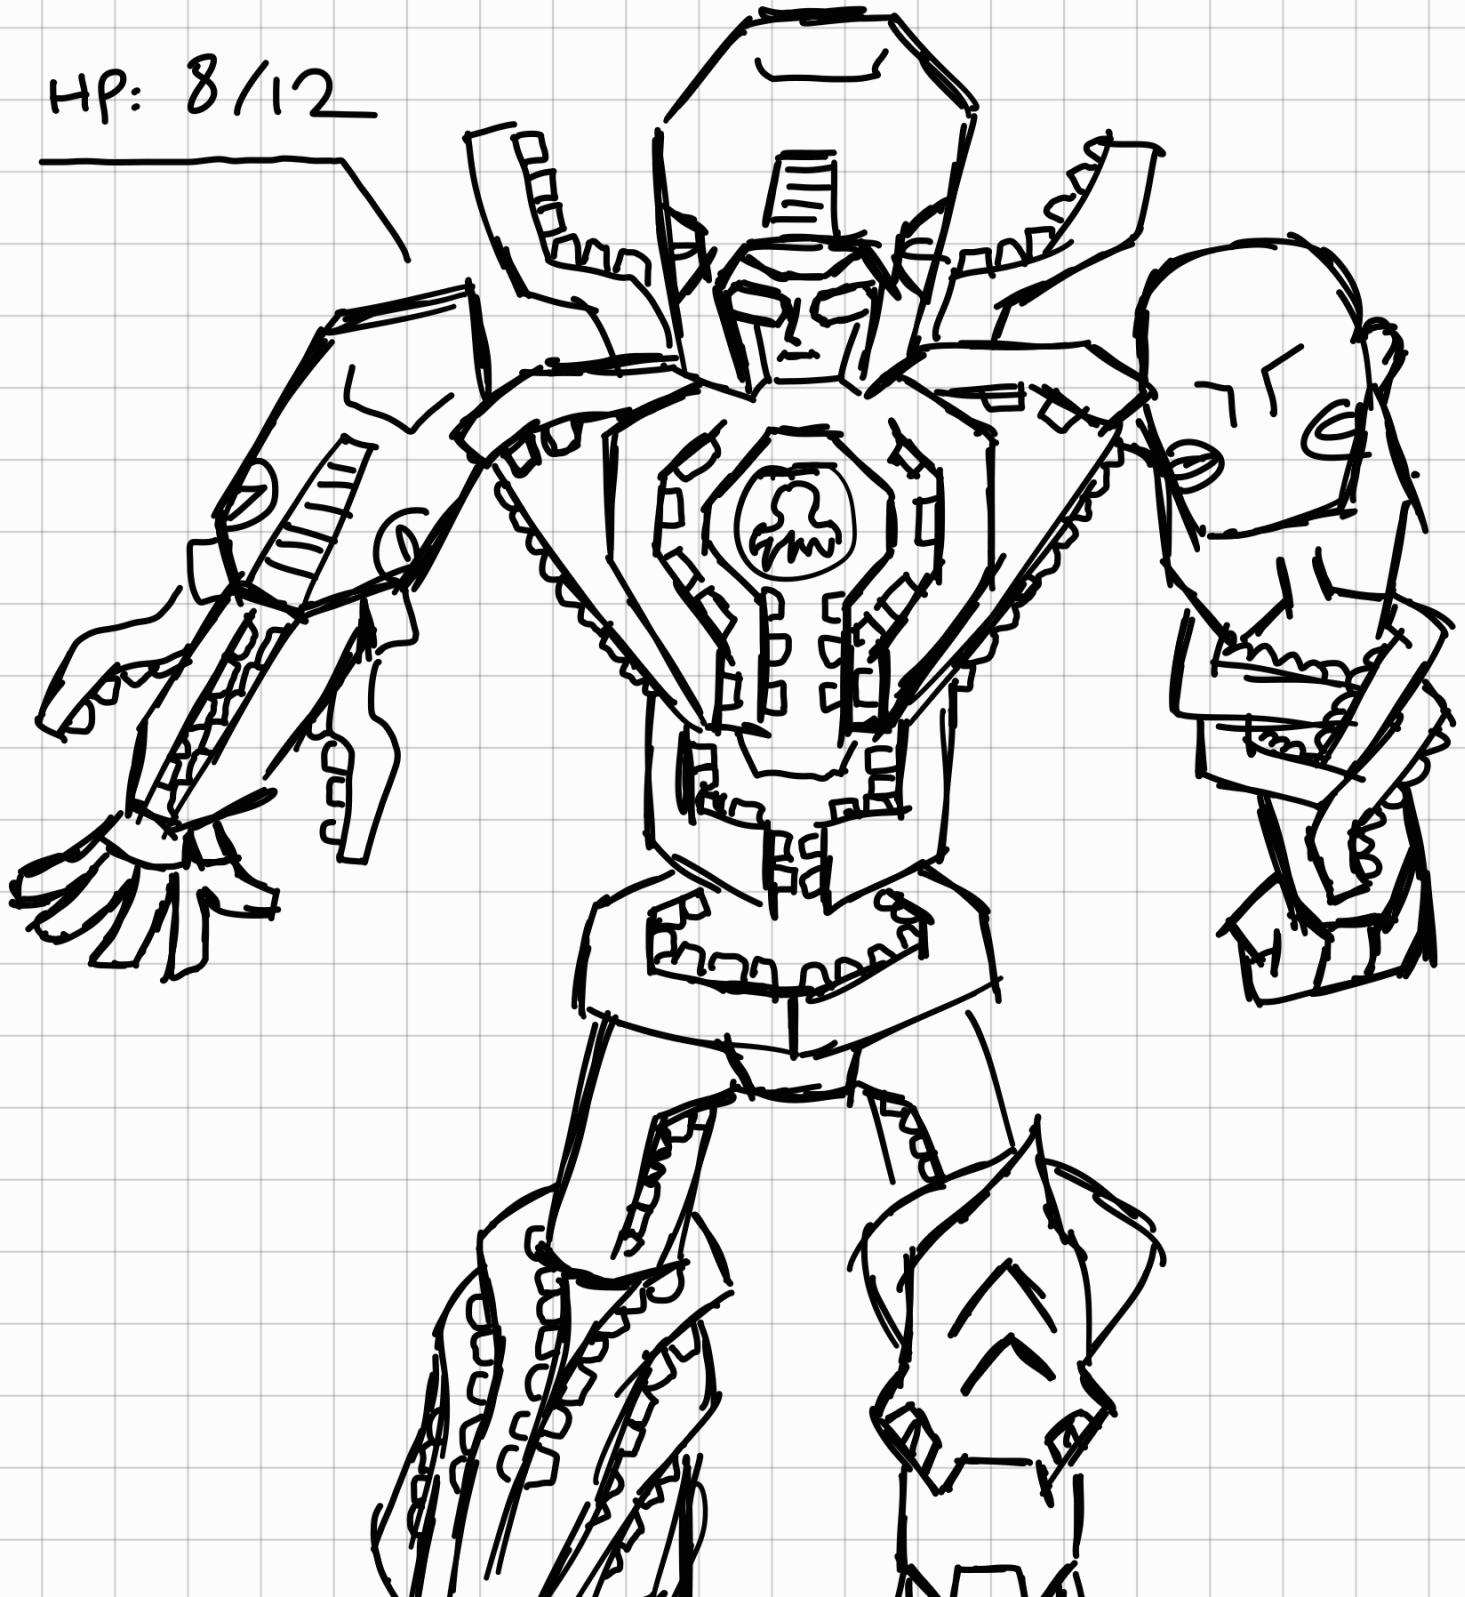

Left arm: G

Right arm: Noah

Left leg: Liam

Right leg: Jeremy

HP: 8/12

Monster:

Liam: Blob of slime

Noah: Big furry tail

Jeremy: Bird feet

G: Big claws for digging

Turn 1:- Monster begins spinning its tail rapidly (2 dmg)

- Wait for it to swing, then slide under and strike at its feet (offensive, 5 dmg)
- Left arm: 1d6, min 3
Right arm: 1d6, min 3
Left leg: 2d6, min 5
Right leg: 2d6, min 7
- Rolls:
 - 6 ✓
 - 4 ✓
 - 5 ✓
 - 5 ✗
- The right leg did not provide enough momentum for the slide, so the mech was not able to dodge & takes the 2 dmg from the tail
- Because the left arm rolled a 6, it was able to catch the monster's ankle and deal 2 dmg to it

Turn 2: - Now on one leg, the monster is slashing in the air to defend itself while it gets back up (5 dmg)

- Dodge the mech's water canon

Deploy the mech's water cannon and blast the monster (offensive,
8 dmg)

- Left arm: 2d6, min 5
Right arm: 1d6, min 3
Left leg: 1d6, min 2
Right leg: 1d6, min 2

- Rolls:
8 ✓
3 ✓
5 ✓
1 ✗

- The cannon was successfully fired at the monster, it takes 8 dmg from the blast & its claws are torn off as the water pressure dissolves the slime blobs holding them together
- The right leg did not brace properly, the mech slips and takes 1 dmg

Turn 3: - Now that it has lost the excess weight of its claws, the monster is able to get back up quicker; it charges at the mech with reckless abandon (6 dmg)

- Raise tentacles to intercept the monster and grab it (defensive)

- Left arm: 2d6, min 7
Right arm: 2d6, min 7
Left leg: 1d6, min 2
Right leg: 1d6, min 2

- Rolls:

7 ✓
12 ✓
3 ✓
1 ✗

- Mech successfully grabs the monster, but the right leg slips again, taking 1 dmg
- Right arm maintains grip during the fall; monster also takes 1 dmg

Turn 4: - The monster struggles against the mech's grip but cannot attack

- Rip the monster in half (offensive, 7 dmg)
- Left arm: 2d6, min 5
Right arm: 2d6, min 4
Left leg: 1d6, min 2
Right leg: 1d6, min 2

- Kols.

7 ✓
5 ✓
5 ✓
6 ✓

- Grabbing each side of the monster's gelatinous body, the mech pulls it apart; after some resistance, the blob snaps and sprays across the battle field; its tail & feet fall to the ground lifelessly
- Pilots are victorious!

